Selectmen's Meeting

SEWER EXTENSION VOTED

Selectmen voted to extend the sewer line approximately 400 feet east up Route 6 from the present manhole across Route 6 at Pearl Street. The cost of the extension will be a net $2200. which according to Executive Secretary Stephen Lombard is covered within the $500,000 Mattapoissett share of the present sewer project. Confering with Tighe & Bond Engineer Art Usher, the Board considered the solution of the problem of several locations across the highway presently connected to storm drains. It was the decision of the Selectmen that since the State intends to re-surface Route 6 in the near future that the extension should also pick up the Bowling Alley and Nick's Pizza and terminate at the corner of Barstow Street so that the highway would not have to be dug up again for an additional 80 feet sometime in the future. The Selectmen voted to make this extension of 400 feet from Pearl Street to Barstow Street and issued a permit for the work.

Mr. Usher said that the Village Mobil Station had made inquiries about connecting the restrooms at the station to the North Street sewer line since they do not operate properly at present. He said that changes are contemplated at the station. The Selectmen said that the Board would consider each application adjacent to a sewer line on its own merits providing a problem exists.

SCALLOP LIMIT RAISED

Selectmen voted to increase the family limit from one bushel of scallops per week to a limit of two bushels per week. Selectman John DeCosta noted that the scallops

The Museum Outdoors will be having a late Fall evening walk on Saturday, Novem-

The Museum's "Night Hikes" afford an op-and anyone curious about the woods after the birds and animals whose day begins

after the sun goes down.

The "Night Hikes" are coordinated with the seasons so that we can observe and come to appreciate the life cycles and changes of area animals and plants at this unique time of year as nature prepares for winter. The Walk will leave from the Museum Outdoors on Old Westport Road at 7:00 P.M. and is free.

some contemporary tunes will be featured at the Marion Art Center's "Hoot!", a folk concert, on Saturday, November 11th, at 8:15 P.M.

Well-known ballad singer Barbara Carns will return to the stage bringing her own special talents with husky voice and lusty songs of the sea. Also performing in the concert are Cam Fordyce, Larry Brown, Mimsey O'Neal and Susie Brown. This foursome has entertained locally, individually and as a group. Their selections range from "Fast Freight" to "Plaisir d'Amour".

Rounding out the program are two newcomers to the Marion Art Center stage: Alain Gowing and Gil Anderson. Both are experienced musicians, and their sophisticated strumming and guitar picking attest to years of practice. "Dueling guitars" adds a note of humor, and their other songs range from Beatles to James Taylor.

Seating will be cabaret style, the atmosphere will be informal; cider, wine and beer will be served. Reserve your table now as space is limited. Call the Center (748-1266) or Wendy Bidstrup (748-1035).

"INSTANT" PAINTING BLOSSOMED BOUGH

An "instant" painting of a blossomed bough, done in ancient Chinese style, was executed in five minutes on the stage of Southeastern Massachusetts University auditorium before a packed house.

Li-Pin Kung painted it to the accompaniment of Chinese music during the recent "China Night" variety show.

After the performance, she made a gift of her painting to SMU "as a gesture of friendship between Taiwanese and American youth".

SMU Professor C.N. Wu, one of the organizers of "China Night", made the official presentation of the exotic painting to university President Donald E. Walker.

Li-Pin is one of 14 Taiwanese students who are performing in a program of Chinese folk songs and dances this fall at 40 American colleges in a youth good-will mission from the Republic of China.
